

Confirmed Speaker

Mr Ian Nightingale

September 10, 2018

Over 30 years of procurement experience in both international development and private sector operations. Currently the Procurement Advisor for the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank based in Beijing. Formerly he was procurement Lead Specialist with the World Bank in Beijing and Washington. Prior to joining the World Bank, he was the Deputy Director of Procurement at the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development based in London. His experience spans a wide and varied range of procurement related activities including:

- assessing project procurement delivery strategy and risk
- procurement of large value and complex contracts for construction works and plant and equipment.
- supply chain management of high volume/low value goods and commodities
- procurement in fragile and conflict affected states and emergency situations
- the development and implementation of procurement policy and reform.
- development of standard tender documentation

Attend the
Panel 2 – The City of Today and Tomorrow: Challenges & Smart Options

REGISTER NOW!